

CONTENTS

COMMENT	The accountants were right	1
NEWS	Millennium and AIG settle • Hedge funds under the spotlight • Going easy on foreign groups • Proxy statements via the web • Enron trial begins • SEC looks into pay and perks • New OCC credit and market risk unit • What lies behind fraud fines • Grant Thornton's knuckles rapped • New rules for credit derivatives • Schmoozing likely to be regulated • Appointments • UK acts on terrorist financing • City put on its mettle • Drive to deregulate hits problems • Harsher penalties for rule breakers • Transparency warning • IASB gets back to basics • Offshore probe approved • Initial payment from BCCI liquidator • Improve your selling, banks told • Nicholson signs off from the FRC • Draghi replaces Fazio • BNP knocks out BBVA • Euronext probe by French regulator • Help for cross-border shareholders • Poland resists bank merger • Countdown to Mifid • Get SEPA under way, or else • Irish regulator to oversee stock market • EU to be spared new regulation • Traumas for Tokyo's stock exchange • Shin Corp and Ample Rich • Clamp down on warrants abuses • South Korea derivatives probe • FATF warns on charities • Nigeria and Myanmar still blacklisted • Basel publications • Reinsurance remains healthy • China commits on IFRS convergence	3
NEWS ANALYSIS	A metric for financial stability? Nick Carver reports on a new way of measuring financial stability.	17
GLOBAL ACCOUNTING STANDARDS	Prospects for a global accounting standard are better than ever. This special feature investigates the implications, for supervisors and others, of a genuinely international set of accounting rules. Interview: Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa The new chairman of the IASB's oversight body explains how the board has brought US and European accounting standards to the brink of convergence. Boardroom battles The controversy surrounding the International Accounting Standards Board probably shows they are doing a good job, argues Peter Walton. How to reconcile supervisors and standard-setters Accounting standard-setters and supervisors should agree to disagree, argues Claudio Borio.	19 25 31

THE Financial Regulator

Volume 10 Number 4 – March 2006

UKRAINE	Postcard from Kiev Paulius Kuncinas reports from Ukraine on the challenges facing regulators as foreign banks close in on the banking market.	38
TRANSPARENCY	Transparency matters New research indicates that financial-sector transparency is a critical factor in crisis avoidance. Saadia Zahidi explains.	43
MICROFINANCE	How to regulate microfinance The booming business of micro-lending fits uneasily with current regulation. Timothy Lyman explains how regulators can adapt.	47
MONEY-LAUNDERING RISKS	Four new money-laundering risks Despite increased efforts to combat money laundering and the financing of terrorism, national and international authorities are overlooking new financial-crime risks, writes Dayanath Jayasuriya.	53
DATA QUALITY	Data quality for Basel II Banks preparing for the new capital accord risk coming unstuck over data quality. Peter Kavalamthara and Andreas Seitz explain how to pass the Basel II test.	57
CAYMAN ISLANDS	Regulatory renewal in the Cayman Islands Five years of legislative changes have made for sweeping reforms to financial regulation in the Cayman Islands writes Eduardo Silva.	63
BOOKNOTES	Why Europe will Run the 21st Century. By Mark Leonard. Reviewed by Graham Bannock Safeguarding financial stability: Theory and Practice. By Garry Schinasi. Reviewed by David Mayes Governing the Corporation – Regulation and Corporate Governance in an Age of Scandal and Global Markets. Edited by Justin O'Brien. Reviewed by Edward Waitzer	66